FUGITIVE ARRESTED AS LINER NEARS SEA

Cheesebrough Found Hiding on Majestic After She Has Gained Speed.

RADIO STARTS CHASE

Police Boat Hylan Fails to Catch Up, but Pilot Takes Off Man and Captors.

SOUGHT HERE FOR DAYS

California Asked Detention, but Accused Asserts He Is Innocent of Crime.

A chase across the continent for William B. Cheesebrough, fugitive from justice from California, ended yesterday when he was already down the bay on his way to Europe. Detectives Hooks and Callahan of Police Headquarters, searching the steamship Majestic of the White Star Line at her pier, found the man they wanted hiding in one of the staterooms on B deck.

When Hooks and Callahan brought him out on deck they were confronted by another problem—how to get Cheesebrough back to New York, for the Majestic meantime had left the pier and headed for sea. The big ship was picking up speed, and both detectives and prisoner, to all appearances, were on their way abroad.

They sent a wireless message to Police Headquarters, which in turn wirelessed to the police tug John F. Hylan. The Hylan started out valiantly in pursuit of the Majestic, but it was not until the big ship had reached a point off Scotland Lightship that the police boat caught up with her and the detectives and their prisoner were taken off.

Long Search on Steamer.

Cheesebrough, according to information received from the California authorities, is wanted in that State both for grand larceny and abandonment. Hooks and Callahan, assigned to find him, heard he was going to sail on the Majestic. They boarded the ship long before she was due to sail, but because of the ship's size and the innumerable hiding places, it took a long time to find him.

Both detectives said they were aided in every possible way by the commander of the Majestic, who assigned members of his crew to work with them in going over the vessel.

Cheesebrough admitted his identity when discovered in the stateroom, but denied that he had committed any crimes in the Western State for which he was wanted.

As the detectives had no warrant for his arrest he at first refused to permit them to take him off the ship, asserting that such was his constitutional right. He was persuaded, however, in the end and went peacefully with Callahan and Hooks when the pilot boat have alongside.

Hylan Gets Party at Last.

By this time the Hylan had caught up with the pilot vessel, took the detectives and prisoner off and landed them at the Battery.

According to the police, Cheesebrough lives in Taft, a small town in southern California some distance from Los Angeles. They say the California police informed them that he left San Francisco on June 8 and has been in hiding in this city for several days.

Cheesebrough will be held to await further information regarding the case from the West.

BRICK SHOWER SENDS BENEDICT TO HOSPITAL

Brooklyn Man Accuses the Brothers of His First Wife.

The story of Isadora Pinberg's boisterous wedding dinner a week ago became public yesterday when Moe, Nathan and Henry Mark, brothers, and their cousin, Abraham Mark, were arraigned in Coney Island Court charged with felonious assault.

Pinberg formerly was the husband of a sister of the Mark brothers, and until her death two months ago he lived with them at 46 Bough street. Last Sunday he married Miss Francis Harris of Jamaica. Then Pinberg, his bride and several friends stepped in automobiles for a restaurant in Coney Island. When Pinberg and his bride stepped from their automobile the Mark brothers, with Cousin Abraham, were standing in the entrance.

"You are a fine bird," said one of the Mark boys. "Here you go and get yourself married again when you should still be in mourning for your first wife, our sister. What kind of respect do you call that?"

Just then witnesses agree, bricks fell heavily upon the bride party, and particularly upon the bridegroom. Pinberg was taken to Eye and Ear Hospital, where it was said he would lose the sight of his left eye. The bride is with friends in Jamaica.

The Marks were held in $1,500 bail each.
